DEMOCRATS TO HOLD MEETING

ONE SCHEDULED FOR MARYVILLE ON OCTOBER 16

WILL BE HELD IN TENT

Speakers Are Not Known at This Time—Democratic State Campaign Was Opened Today

Plans are being made for a Democratic rally to be held in Maryville on Oct. 16. The meeting will be held in tent, probably on the high school grounds. It is not known at this time who the speakers will be, but Chairman Dan R. Baker of the county committee is expecting to hear within the next few days.

The date for the Maryville meeting was definitely decided on by state headquarters last evening. Rock Port is also wanting a meeting.

The congressional committee of the Fourth district together with William E. Spratt, Democratic candidate for congress and the members of the Nodaway County committee met yesterday afternoon in Maryville and discussed the congressional campaign and also the local campaign. It was decided at this meeting to make application at once for only two tent meetings in this district, only two meetings to a district being allowed by the Democratic state committee. At these tent meetings, there will be speaking in the afternoon and also at night.

Senator James A. Reed fired the opening gun of the Democratic campaign at Mexico today. Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas and Senator A. O. Stanley of Kentucky assisted Reed in opening the campaign.

Former Governor Frederick D. Gardner, who, with his family, returned Sunday night from Europe, said that as soon as he can attend to his business affairs, he will offer his services to Senator Reed in the Democratic campaign, and will make a speaking trip over the state if Reed and the party managers desire him to do so. The former governor took no part in the primary campaign between Reed and Breckinridge Long.

"Senator Reed is the nominee of the party, and I believe he will be re-elected," Gardner said. "The Democratic party is the only agency through which the people can look for a return of the prosperous days of the previous Democratic national and state administrations. The people are beginning to realize that they were misled by promises during the last campaign. For that reason the Democrats will be victorious in the coming campaign, I believe."

COMMERCIAL FERTILIZER POPULAR AROUND GUILFORD

Alfonso Ruggle, in Charge of Farm For Brothers of St. Benedict Leader in Its Use

The use of commercial fertilizer in planting with wheat is fast coming into popular favor in the vicinity of Guilford. It has been found by actual experience that the yield of wheat is astonishingly increased thereby. An instance is the experience of H. T. Thompson whose yield was increased from five bushels per acre to twenty-five bushels and there are others of like experience in that part of the county.

So well convinced are the farmers that the land must receive back something in return for the harvest taken from it that one car load of fertilizer has been used at Guilford and three cars at Conception or Clyde. Much credit for this is due to Alfonse Ruggle, the progressive young man who is in charge of the farm for the Brothers of St. Benedict.

Alfalfa and red clover also respond readily to the fertilizer. M. J. Oliver of near Guilford fertilized his land and planted it to alfalfa August 1 and five weeks later found that his alfalfa showed unusual vitality and had made a growth of from ten to thirteen inches. Mr. Ruggle used a straw spreader on his fertilized wheat and for this trouble was rewarded with a yield of thirty-one and one-half bushels of fine wheat that is widely sought for seed wheat.

Farm bureau experts have long insisted that the land is not being fairly treated and decided measures should be taken for the conservation a[illegible]tion of soil fertility.

The patrol will assemble in Hopkins again after supper and put on the second drill of the day.

The patrol will put on the exhibition at the request of the committee at Hopkins that arranges for the picnic.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS' DELEGATES HERE

SESSIONS BEING HELD AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

PAGEANT GIVEN TONIGHT

Is to Continue Tomorrow With Several Talks by Sterling Williams—Mrs. Wells Home

Delegates from a number of the Sunday schools in Nodaway County assembled this morning in Maryville for the session of the county Sunday school convention, that are being held at the First Methodist Church. The sessions were carried out this morning pretty much as scheduled by the program, with Sterling Williams of Kansas City, young people's superintendent for the State Sunday School Association, making the main talk at 11 o'clock. His theme was that of "Worship."

A talk was given by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass and the Rev. B. F. Cline presided at the sessions. Reports of the year's work were made by the following heads of divisions: Frank Barrett, administration; Miles Spargur, adult and home; Miss Eva Davis, young people, and Mrs. L. E. White children.

The time is being spent this afternoon in separate conferences, all of which are being held at the Methodist church. One of the main attractions of the afternoon was that of a talk made by Mrs. Sam Wells of Savannah, who took the place of Dr. F. A. Coffin of Palmer College at Albany, who was not able to attend.

Mr. Williams and Mrs. Wells are the only out-of-town speakers. Mr. Williams will remain for the sessions tomorrow but Mrs. Wells left this afternoon on the Burlington for her home.

The sessions this evening will be at the Baptist Church. They will commence at 7:30 o'clock and at 8:30 o'clock the pageant "Bearers of Light," to be given by the Polk township district of the Nodaway County Association. Considerable interest has been manifested in the pageant and the indications are that there will be a good-sized crowd.

The sessions are to start again at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and Sterling Williams will be on the program with the following talks: 11:25 o'clock "Building for Service;" 2:25 o'clock, "Missouri Sunday School News;" 3 o'clock "Home to Serve."

President Uel W. Lamkin is scheduled to appear on the program at 1:45 o'clock with a talk on "Christian Patriotism."

BOYS AND CALVES HERE SATURDAY

ALL BOYS 12-18 YEARS OLD ARE URGED TO COME

HARRY MESSICK JUDGE

Calves will be Loaded and Shipped at Once to St. Joseph Show There Tuesday

Seventeen boys and girls and their 17 calves of the calf club will be in Maryville Saturday morning to the judging that will be held at the Gray pavilion. Harry Messick of Bolckow, one of the state's prominent judges, will judge the calves. The calves are to be brought in Friday afternoon and will be kept at the pavilion Friday night.

Promoters of the club are urging that as many of the boys and girls, 12 to 18 years old, of the county who can, come in for the judging and to look the stock over. They say that there is no hope for the feeder, no matter how good a one he mays be, if he has not the proper kind of stock to feed. He cannot hope to have the proper kind of stock if he does not know good stock when he sees it. They say that there is no better way to become good judges of stock than to see it and see it judged. There are seventeen members in the club this year and the promoters feel that there should be thirty or forty next year. Buchanan County has a club with a membership of sixty and Nodaway County with its fine herds should have one equally as large.

The calves will be judged at about 10 o'clock Saturday morning and will then be taken to the Burlington station, where they will be loaded so that they can go to St. Joseph on the afternoon freight. The St. Joseph stock yards company will pay the transportation of the five best calves and the expenses of the boys who own them. It is necessary that the calves be shipped Saturday, although the show in St. Joseph does not come off until Tuesday, because of the fact that there is no freight on Sunday and to ship them Monday would not give sufficient time for them to become rested and get over the trip before the show.

It is not known definitely as yet whether the boys will have to accompany their calves to St. Joseph and remain with them until after the show, or whether it will be possible for them to go down the first of the week and be present for the show only.

The Calves will be sold Wednesday, the day following the show in St. Joseph.

A letter received today by Roy A. Kinnaird, county agent, said that there would be a banquet Monday evening at the Transit House in St. Joseph for the club members and their parents, and that there would be some prominent speakers at the banquet.

Following are the club members of this year and the kind of calves they have: Maurice Berg, Maryville, Angus; Laverne Butts, Ravenwood, Angus; Dale Daniel Dorman, Graham, Shorthorn; John M. Turner, Barnard, Shorthorn; Dale Acklin, Graham, Shorthorn; Lola Acklin, Graham, Shorthorn; Homer Davison, Maryville, Shorthorn; Orval Davison, Maryville, Shorthorn; Robert Komer, Maryville, Shorthorn; Alice Komer, Maryville, Shorthorn; Howard Crater, Ravenwood, Shorthorn; Myron Crater, Ravenwood, Shorthorn; Max Wray, Hopkins, Shorthorn; F. W. Null, Maryville, Shorthorn; Harley Garrard, Parnell, Hereford; Loren Garrard, Parnell, Hereford.

SPECIALISTS WITH CERTIFIED FLOCKS

AT ROY W. KING'S TODAY—STRAUB'S TOMORROW

50 COUNTIES HAVE THEM

Is to Examine the Birds in the Pens and Perhaps Select Some New Stock

Fred Crosby, Greenwood, poultry specialists, arrived last night in Maryville and went today with Roy A. Kinnaird, county agent, to Hopkins to inspect the certified flock of Roy W. King at Hopkins. Tomorrow Mr. Crosby and Mr. Kinnaird will go to the farm of A. E. Straub to inspect his certified flock.

The King and Straub flocks are the only certified ones in Nodaway County, although there have been other applications. Mr. Crosby will look over the certified birds and perhaps help pick the new stock that is to be placed in the pen. He said that he may possibly cull the entire flocks on the farms if he is asked to do so and has the time.

Mr. Crosby said this morning that only fifty counties of the state have certified flocks. He estimated that the counties have on an average four flocks, making an approximate total of 200 in the state. Newton County is one of the leaders in the state with sixteen certified flocks, while Scott County has twelve of them.

In order to have a certified flock it is necessary that the owner have in his pen a high quality of hens and male birds that come from a laying strain of 200 or more eggs a year. The flocks are kept so that it would be impossible for them to get to other poultry on the farm.

FRED BREIT IS FINED $500 AND GIVEN 6 MONTH IN JAIL

Stay of Execution until Saturday Allows Him to Go Home and Make Preparations

Fred Breit of Parnell plead guilty in the police court of Mayor Fred P. Robinson yesterday afternoon to a charge of unlawful possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor and was fined $500 and given a sentence of six months in the city jail. A stay of execution until Saturday was given Breit in order that he might return to his home and make preparations for the payment of the fine and serving the sentence.

Ed Wallace, police officer, saw Breit make what he thought to be a deal for some liquor on the streets of Maryville yesterday afternoon. The party with whom the deal was thought to have been made then drove away. Later Breit got in his car and drove to the Ina Gray farm south of Maryville. Wallace and E. E. Tilton met him on the way back and made the arrest.

The liquor was found in his possession.

Deputy Sheriff Leo Atherton searched the Gray place late yesterday afternoon. He declined to state what was found.

Breit was before the grand jury yesterday afternoon after he had been arrested by the city. It was rumored he told all about where he got the liquor.

The case of the City of Maryville against Alva Palmer was on trial in circuit court this afternoon at press time. A motion to quash the case was filed by the defendant on the grounds that the city had not complied with the section of the law in making out their complaint. The motion was overruled by the court.

A FRIENDLESS CONGRESS.

(New York World.)

No other congress, so far as we know, has ever been so generally an object of public contempt and derision as the one that has finally adjourned for the fall campaign after nearly eighteen months of almost continuous session.

There have been congresses that were bad; there have been other congresses that were derelict in their duty; there have been other congresses that were incompetent and leaderless; but by common consent the Sixty-seventh congress has been the worst bungler of them all. It has become a congress practically without friends. Republicans not only refuse to defend it, but they join eagerly with democrats in condemning it. Even the secretary of war in Mr. Harding's cabinet has publicly testified to its incapacity.

The county will not get very far however, if it contents itself with assailing the Sixty-seventh congress for its manifold stupidities and makes no attempt to arrive at the cause of it all. The reasons why dissatisfaction is general and congress is generally condemned can all be found in the 1920 campaign which the republican leaders organized and carried thorugh to an unprecedented majority at the polls.

The campaign was corrupt to the very heart of it. It was crooked morally and it was crooked intellectually. It was directed toward the single end of inciting public discontent, of arousing race and religious animosities, of organizing the hyphenated vote and of capitalizing all the unrest that had inevitably resulted from the most disastrous war known to human history.

It was a campaign of hatred, of destruction, of mendacity and of demagogy shameless beyond comparison. It accomplished the purposes of the men who planned it but it left the republican party bankrupt in character and bankrupt in leadership.

Elections can be won by the methods that the republican senators imposed on their party in 1920 but government cannot be successfully administered by those methods. In the last eighteen months the government of the United States, except in its routine processes, has broken down. It has proved itself incapable of evolving either foreign or domestic policies to meet the needs of the country. It has ceased to be representative in the very essentials of representative government. It has become a thing apart from the life of the American people, unable to help in the solution of their problems and generally making a bad matter worse by its dull-minded interference.

Although no congress has ever been criticized more savagely than the Sixty-seventh congress. The world doubts if it is inherently much worse than the average or if its intellectual level is much lower. It has failed, and failed miserably, chiefly because it has been cursed by the record that the republican leaders made when they were directing the opposition against President Wilson. Politicians are usually more afraid of inconsistency than of anything else, and whenever a sane solution of any national problem has been at hand, congress has been forced to turn away from it in order to remain faithful to all the dishonest speeches that were delivered against the Wilson policies.

A strong, commanding leadership could probably have welded together a working majority in the Sixty-seventh congress and have saved the situation, but there was no leadership. Mr. Harding was selected by the old guards at Chicago because he had none of the elements of a leader, and within the managing group of congress there were only third-raters like Lodge.

The republicans had their hymn of hate against Wilson in 1920 and the country is now paying the fiddler. That is about all there is to the story. There is no mystery about it. Nothing better could have come out of that kind of campaign.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST HORROR

Two years ago many persons of bolshevist sympathies in this country were apologizing for the soviet movement in Russia and arguing that it had been terribly misrepresented and lied about, that it was really a sincere effort to benefit humanity.

But the real truth about this movement is coming out. The official figures of the number of Russians executed by the soviet authorities, now show that 1,766, 118 were put to death by these bloody butchers. Nothing in the history of the world equals this brutal and bloodthirsty record.

Russia has the richest natural resources of any country in the world. It suffered severely under the war, but if it had had a decent government, its natural wealth is so great that it would be prosperious today. The soviets took it, reduced it to starvation, and killed nearly 2,000,000 of their own people by brutal murder in order to terrorize opposition. American apologists for this record of horror should go over there to live and see how they like it.

Under a decision of the Democratic state committee a new emblem will be used this year to designate the party activities and the old shopworn, if not time honored, donkey will be discarded. It is no longer regarded as artistic or dignified and will be discarded for the Goddess of Liberty. The donkey never did carry any particular or becoming significance related to the party that suffered it so long but, on the other hand, was not regarded seriously by the public. This year, however, the new ballot law requires that each party ticket printed on the ballot shall bear a symbol. It will be the Goddess of Liberty this year and this fact should be borne in mind by those who expect to vote the Democratic ticket.

FIRST IN WEALTH, 2d IN CABARETS; CALIFORNIA CLAIM

Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—First in wealth and second in cabarets was the way Los Angeles and California were placed by the Federal tax collections in a report from Washington which is in the hands of Internal Collector of Revenue Goodcel.

The report showed that the Los Angeles district paid more Federal income tax per capita than any other section in the country, and that in taxes collected for roof gardens and cabarets California ranked only second to New York.

CHEATS DEATH WITH PRESENCE OF MIND

New York, Sept. 27.—Amazing presence of mind saved the life of George B. Wagner, an electrician. While working on a high-tension wire carrying 22,000 volts, at the New York Central Station, he formed a contact and could not let go. Instantly he touched his elbow to the floor, grounded the circuit and prevented his own electrocution. His arm was badly burned, but he will recover.

Uncle Abner says if we told nothing but the truth we would have few friends.

The man with a supply of home brew should hide it when he has his furnace fixed. One of our friends had two men at work in his cellar last week and after they left the row of bottles on the shelf looked like the charge of the light brigade.

Timid folk no longer dread to walk along Maryville streets as in the days of the horse democracy. In the old days walking by the hitching racks was one horse's head after another. We can remember when the nags would take a nip at your arm as you walked along.

The world will never judge your generosity by the advice you give away.

Anather individual who is not looking very peppy these days is Mr. House Fly. Those who survive the swatter in the hands of housewives are feeling the effect of the early fall days.

Louise, the stenographer, says truth may be stranger than fiction but is not so convincing.

There are some men in Maryville so ill natured that they will not sleep on a feather pillow for fear a feather will tickle them and make them smile.

We often hear it said that some man is "comon as an old shoe" Now what we would like to know just how common an old shoe is.

Instead of marrying for money a man should rob a bank or skip with a widow or something else honorable.

The girl who can't cook anything else can cook a fellow's goose.

Why is it that we do most of our grumbling at home? There is no place else where we are treated better.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON

By Wallace Bassford
(Special News Correspondent).

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—In this column, under date of July 31, the statement was made that when Congress would adjourn, some time along in the fall, there would be no bonus legislation, and that Republican members who were voting for it were doing so with their fingers crossed, knowing the President would veto the bill. This writer went further and gave the entire plan which would be followed—that the bill would pass both Houses, would be vetoed by the President, and that the effort to pass it over his veto would succeed in the House and fail in the Senate. This was not prophesy—it was written from knowledge of the Republican plan to hold the soldier vote in line for the Republican members and those Republican Senators who have to go before the people in November. When they voted for it and made tearful appeals for other votes they knew their votes would not make the measure into law, for they knew it would fail in just the manner stated in the letter above mentioned, which appeared in hundreds of newspapers throughout the country.

It is estimated that the bonus bill would have cost the taxpayers about four billions, scattered over a generation or more. The President and Secretary Mellon can not see how the people could pay the price, but they have no hesitancy in approving the new tariff bill, which will take from the people's pockets, in increases in the cost of manufactured articles, almost four billions each single year until the awakened and outraged public drives the law and its makers out into the cold. Mellon himself will be the greatest beneficiary, in all liklihood, of all the men who will fatten their present wealth off of the needs of the people. This modern Shylock controls, as merely a part of his great wealth, all of the aluminum manufacturing in the land. His influence has raised the tariff rates on imported aluminum wares to such a high point that there will be no importations; his companies will have no competition and the prices can be lifted to double the present figures and the public will simply have to pay. There is no escape. Under the new law, with the help of a little joker, the import duty on aluminum wares is 71 per cent, while under the Underwood law it was 20 per cent. The latter rate protected the American aluminum worker and put much revenue into the treasury; the new rate keeps out the foreign wares, hence the treasury will get no revenue therefrom, while it gives Mellon's companies a complete monopoly. They have suffered so little from foreign competition in the past that they have exported heavily, selling their goods in Europe in competition with cheap labor. Mellon is a director in the Aluminum Co., of America, of the Aluminum Cooking Utensil Co., of the Aluminum Ore Co., of the American Metal Co., of the Northern Aluminum Co., of the Pressed Metal Radiator Co., and of the United States Aluminum Co. Under this prohibitive tariff rate a peculiar result obtains: The treasury will receive no revenue, while the public will be mulcted shamefully, yet will have to pay other taxes to the treasury to make up for those lost because the tariff is so high as to prevent importations.

The new wool tariff is so outrageous that it will take almost a billion dollars each year in additional prices, over what they should be, from the pockets of the consumers. This amount alone, in four years, would pay the entire bill for the soldiers' bonus. The people, who would like to see the boys get the bonus, will have to pay this bill, and yet the soldiers will go without their recompense. One of the most ironical frauds in the wool tariff is the fact that it taxes as pure wool every fake and fraud that by any stretch of the truth can be classed as wool. A workman's blue winter shirt, which he fondly thinks is wool, has placed on it a duty of 108 per cent, though there is no real wool in it. To call it wool is an insult which even a sheep should resent. The goods used to make these shirts usually contains from 80 to 85 per cent of shoddy and the remainder is cotton. Many fools think the word shoddy merely means a poor grade of wool. That is correct as far as it goes, but the fact is that shoddy is made from the ragpicker's rags, pulled to pieces by machinery and again spun and dyed. The long fiber and the life of the original wool are gone and the garment in which it is used is of short life, poor quality and of little warmth.

The duty on wool is put on under pretense of protecting the farmer. It really removes all the protection he has against the cheat and the fraud. All of the farmers need to wear woolen garments and buy them for their families, yet only 7 per cent of the farmers raise sheep, while only 3 or 4 per cent have large flocks. The tariff on the raw wool will enrich the wool growers about 45 millions, will put about 60 millions in the Treasury, and add 473 millions to the prices of the handlers and manufacturers of wool and clothing. Every fellow gets his cut out of it—the wool jobber, the scourer, the carder, the spinner, the weaver, the clothing manufacturer, jobber and retailer. Half of this is due to this pyramiding each handler adds his per centage of profit to a higher first cost. If a yard of cloth formerly cost him two dollars, his fifty per cent profit causes him to sell it for three dollars—a profit of one dollar. But if that cloth now costs him three dollars and he adds fifty per cent for profit, he makes a dollar and a half, and the purchaser pays four dollars and a half in place of three dollars.

"Greatest Hero" Is Working on a Dam

General Pershing chose him as the greatest single hero of the World war, but that honor does not prevent Sergeant Samuel Woodfill from going to work on a dam for $6.60 a day. He is one of the carpenters at work on the government dam at Silver Grove, Ky. "My husband went to work on the dam because he finds it necessary to raise money to meet the payment on our home that will soon fall due," Mrs. Woodfill said. "He could never do it on his sergeant's pay and the work at the dam opened a way for him."

OPIUM SLEUTHS FOILED BY WILEY CHINESE GANG

Honolulu, Sept. 27—Customs officers were startled here yesterday when $2,000 worth of opium disappeared virtually before their eyes at a small Chinese drug store in the heart of the city, supposed to be operated by a member of the powerful inner ring of opium dealers. A Chinese girl was hired by the revenue officers to make a decoy sale. The girl went aboard the Pacific Mail liner President Wilson, brought the opium down the gangplank and carried it to the drug store, trailed by the customs officers. She was in the building two minutes when the officers raided it, but a two hours' search of the place failed to reveal where the opium had disappeared to.

Big Difference In Their Speed

ANDREW MELLON SILENT AND POWERFUL MEMBER OF HARDING'S CABINET

By George R. Holmes, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Sept. 27—Almost daily there can be seen in Washington, at the close of Government business for the day, the frail figure of an old man, nearing seventy, emerging from the Treasury Department and beginning a long trudge homeward—twenty long blocks away.

Sometimes the flappers and the young clerks that volley out of the great Goverament departments at quitting time almost trample him underfoot in their haste to grab seats in street cars and buses.

If you looked carefully at this frail old gentleman you would notice that he was neatly, but certainly not expensively dressed. You would notice the face somewhat thin and a little peaked—as of one who has wilted a bit in the crucible of the world's grind. The thought might strike you that there was a typical cog in the great wheel of Government—an aged and bent clerk who had given the best years of his life to an un-apreciative Government.

You would be wrong. The man is Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, with one-third of the world's wealth in his keeping. He is worth himself some $200,000,000 or $300,000,000, perhaps $500,000,000. He doesn't know exactly how much he is worth. It probably would take a corps of accountants a full year to find out for him. Sufficient it is to say that statisticians dispute about who is the wealthiest man in the United States, and consequently in the world— Rockefeller or Mellon.

He has limousines at his call. Also stables of horses. He seldom uses either, unless he is in a great hurry, which is seldom. His quiet trudge homeward after work is his principal recreation and his principal public appearance.

Andrew W. Mellon is by long odds the strangest Cabinet figure Washington has seen in many years. He is quiet to the point of being absolutely tacitarn; he is shy to the point of seldom appearing in public. Golf has no attraction for him; politics he abhors; cards he never plays; he is no raconteur—and he doesn't like Washington.

What does he do? He works, trudges homeward in the evening, tends strictly to his own business —and escapes from Washington at every opportunity. He is devoted to his daughter and seldom does a week-end find them apart.

The Secretary of the Treasury has few if any intimates in the capital. He goes to Cabinet meeting at the White House by slipping across the narrow little street that is called East Executive avenue, which divides the Treasury from the White House. He goes through the long passage from the mansion to the Executive Offices, where the sessions are held. He doesn't like newspaper reporters. They bother him with questions.

He takes little part in political discussion—talk as to how this policy or that policy will affect the fortunes of the party in power. In the first place, he doesn't know; in the second place, he isn't interested.

One distinguishing trait he has in common with other public men. He is an incessant smoker. A particular kind of tiny cigarette is an ever-constant companion. They are made specially for him.

Periodically there are reports that he is going to resign. So far they have just been reports. He has run his department as he saw fit. There are more Democrats in the Treasury Department to-day than in any other department of Washington—a fact which has led to several political assaults upon him.

How influential Mr. Mellon is may be judged from fact that he is credited with beating the bonus single-handed; that is, convincing a Republican President that he should veto a bill passed by a Republican House by 5 to 1 and by a Republican Senate 2 to 1—all in the midst of a campaign in which the Republicans cheerfully admit they are going to need every vote they can get to re-elect their Congress.

HERE'S A HUGE NUMBER FOR SOME ONE TO READ

Figured Out by Scientists It Is Number of Vibrations a Second That Would Destroy Matter.

Scientists have figured out as a principle that there could be a rapidity of vibrations to the second that would destroy any substance. They have solved it that this rate would be 4,611,686,018,427,389,904. When asked this morning how to read this figure a local authority said it was like this, four sex-trillion, six hundred and eleven quad-trillion six hundred and eighty-six trillion, six hundred and eighteen billion, four hundred and twenty-seven million, three hundred and eighty-nine thousand, nine hundred and four. Whether this is the way it goes or not, Ernest Kessler has the table and the numerals are correct according to it.

This rate of vibration has never been discovered and scientists in some cases seem to dread discovering it, lest the result would be so terrible that they would never live to tell the tale.

The vibration of the human voice runs from two to 32,768 vibrations a second.

PARIS POLICE HARD TO REACH AFTER 10 O'CLOCK IN EVENING

Paris, Sept. 27.—"Allo—allo! Mademoiselle, I asked for Auteuil 69-74, if you please."

"No answer, Monsieur."

"Outrageous! Mademoiselle, I am calling the police station of my quarter."

"Ah, but, Monsieur, it is after ten o'clock, and the officers do not answer after ten in the evening! There is no use insisting."

This was the experience of a good Parisian who had urgent need of the police one evening not long ago. He found out by bitter experience that after an early hour in the evening one must telephone to the Central Police and Fire Department. It may be a long distance, and your house may be burned down or the burglar gone before any help comes— but then, this is Paris!

Long Winter evenings are coming, buy a Radio.

SMALL CONTRIBUTIONS FOR DEMOCRATIC FUND

Treasurer Would Limit Subscriptions to $100 to Appeal to Large Numbers.

G. F. Newburger of Joplin, treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, who was authorized by the Executive Committee to create a Finance Committee to devise plans for raising funds for the Democratic state campaign, said yesterday in St. Louis his personal view is that the Democrats should appeal to a large number of Democrats for small contributions rather than to a few for larger contributions.

"There is some objection among some of the organization leaders to the plan of popular subscriptions," he said, "but I should like, unless I am overruled by the committee, to limit contributions to $100.

"The Democratic party of Missouri, however, has no fruitful sources of campaign funds, such as the Republicans have, and must depend in the final analysis upon the men and women of moderate means for its funds. I think this year, if an appeal is made to the rank and file of the party, that money sufficient to conduct the campaign and pay the debts of the organization can be obtained."

Newburger's problem of financing the campaign and afterwards getting together funds to pay off $25,000 in debts left over from the presidential campaign of 1920 is not an easy one. The Executive Committee gave Newburger full authority to proceed in getting the money. He is a merchant at Joplin and is reported wealthy.

AGED, MUCH-MARRIED PAIR LIKE GAY LIFE

Brockton, Mass., Sept. 27.—Dr. Pliny H. West, eighty-three, of No. 18 Crescent place, this city, is now preparing for his fourth marriage, to Mrs. Julia O. Young, aged sixty-six. It will be Mrs. Young's third marriage.

Dr. West admits that he likes dancing and frequently spends an evening at his favorite amusement. He admires the "flapper" of the present day.

Mrs. Young has been engaged in private nursing for many years.

UNDERTAKER HEADS G. O. P. COMMITTEE

Nevadans Exchange Partisan Pleasantries as to Who Will Be Buried.

Reno, Sept. 27.—Boy, page Mr. Charon, superintendent of the Styx ferry!

An undertaker is chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Nevada and, between funerals, is actively engaged in prosecuting the campaign for the G. O. P. ticket.

His name is Silas E. Ross. He is a member of the City Council, but there his professional classification does not stand out so prominently, as there is a printer, an insurance man, a civil engineer and members of other pursuits working with him.

But as chairman of the Grand Old Party's State Central Committee he is declared to be the only "mortician"—the word which appears on his neat gold-and-black sign— in the United States to be the active head of a political campaign.

The Democrats say that it is quite proper that an undertaker have charge of Republican affairs in Nevada.

The Republicans retort that "Si" Ross will officiate at the funeral of the Democracy in November.

Mr. Ross does not wear white gloves when presiding at meetings of the State Central Committe.

WILL PAYS BROTHER'S RAIL FARE TO FUNERAL

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 27.—Although she left an estate valued at $42,000, Mrs. Louisa Stern, part owner of the Atlantic Hotel, in this city, specified in her will that her executors should pay all expenses incurred by her brother, Sol Ziegler, of New York, in case he attended her funeral. This part of the bequest was in addition to the residue of the estate left to Ziegler after charitable gifts and Mrs. Stern's shares of the hotel property had been deducted.

The Facts in the Case

RECENTLY there has been some revival of the story that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) belongs to a trust, and is operated as a part of a larger organization directed by interests other than its Board of Directors.

Such stories are absolutely and unqualifiedly false.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an independent corporation owned by 27,109 individual shareholders, many of them employees.

No individual owns as much as 10 per cent of the capital stock.

The policies of the Company are formulated, and the practices directed, by a Board consisting of nine men, all actively engaged in this business, and in no other.

Robert W. Stewart, Chairman
W. M. Burton, President
W. E. Warwick, Second Vice-President
B. Parks, Third Vice-President
E. G. Seubert, Fourth Vice-Pres., Sec. & Treas.
Allan Jackson, Fifth Vice-President
R. H. McElroy, Traffic Manager
E. J. Bullock, Director of Purchases
T. J. Thompson, General Manager—Sales

These men are striving to manage the business of this Company so as to render the utmost of service to the people of the Middle West; to furnish steady employment to 26,000 men and women; and to render a fair return to the stockholders on the capital they have invested in the enterprise.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) neither owes, nor acknowledges, allegiance to any individual or other organization. It stands squarely on its own feet and says proudly that its trying to do a big job in a big way.

KANSAS CITY FALL FASHION PAGEANT

Will be the Most Spectacular Style Show Ever Held In the West.

Two Hundred and Forty Complete Outfits Will Represent the Last Word in Style.

The Fall Fashion Pageant which will be held under the auspices of the Merchants Association, Thursday evening, October 5, Convention Hall, will be the most spectacular style show ever held in Kansas City. It is modeled after the very successful Pageants of Fashion, which have been held in St. Louis, Municipal Open-Air Theatre for the past six years.

The Kansas City Fall Fashion Pageant is unique, in that it is a Style Show for style's sake. There will not be a word of advertising in the show, nor program as to the exhibitor of the apparel displayed. The 240 complete outfits will represent the last word in style. The display will include correct costumes for every occasion.

The Pageant is for one night only and will cost approximately $10,000. It will include over 250 persons, a ballet of 150 trained dancers, 50 living models, an orchestra of 40 or 50 pieces together with dancers and singers of national fame.

In addition to the Pageant the Merchants Association will hold a Style Revue Monday, October 2. The Style Revue will commence with the unveiling of the windows of all of the stores in the retail district. Merchants in every line in the downtown and outlying districts are making special window displays. These displays will be unveiled promptly at 10 o'clock. An Art Committee will judge the displays and make the awards.

"The Opulence of Autumn" will be the theme which runs through the Pageant and is reflected in the superb display of medish apparel. The big auditorium will be transformed into a fairy-land.

The Story.

Episode I—"The Birth of Autumn."—Strains of joys lilting music come from the depth of the wood. Summer—a beautiful young woman in brilliant flowing draperies appears, followed by a ballet of 100 dressed as Summer flowers, sunbeams and butterflies. The dancers pass out on the runway and join in a rapturous dance, and ending in a mad bacchanal, they drop to the ground exhausted, their beauty spent.

The music changes to soft eerie strains. Elf-like figures creep from behind the canopy and descend the stepping stones; from quaint bags they strew autumn leaves over the drooping flowers. The flowers revive and rise. The flowers join the woodelves in a brilliant dance. Autumn—A small child, nude save for a scant covering of autumn leaves, descends the stepping stones, passes out on the runway; Autumn carries a bow, a quiver filled with arrows is strapped over her shoulders. She shoots an arrow upward.

Episode II—"The Arrival of Queen Fashion."—As Autumn draws her bow, lights are out. Above the soft strains of music, the whirring song of a motor is heard, and Queen Fashion descends from the clouds. The autumn flowers and wood creatures gather around her and escort her to the throne.

Group 1—Promenade of models. As Queen Fashion is seated, models wearing modish street dresses, suits, and millinery, small furs, appear on either side of the canopy and pass down the stepping stones, across the stage, over the runway, exiting to the right and left.

Episode III—"Autumn Sports." A male voice is heard singing. At the first note of the song, which is march time, six girls in "Hiking" dress appear, they pass down the runway, back and take their places on the stage. The music and song change to a rollicking measure and six girls as golfers appear, they pass out over the runway and take their station on the cross runway. The music and song change to a waltz measure, six young girls as skaters appear, they take their places on the cross runway. The music and song changes to a mad gallop and six girls dressed in riding habit appear. The Hiking Girls, Golfing Girls, Skating Girls and Riding Girls and the male singer ensemble dance and sing, exit right and left.

Group 2—Promenade of models—No sooner than these merry makers disappear, models wearing coats and wraps appear and exit as first group.

Episode IV—"If Winter Comes"—The jingling of sleigh bells is heard in the distance. The hall is in darkness, when the lights are on the scene as if by magic, has been transformed into a winter setting. Snow clad figures appear and scamper down the stepping stones out on the runway. As they finish their dance a snow storm breaks upon them and they rush off in high glee with merry shouts. Exit to the right and left.

Group 3—Promenade of Models—A group of models wearing fur coats and capes follow this episode. The models exit as the preceding groups.

Classic Number—A voice is heard singing an aria from one of the grand operas, a quartet number follows.

Episode V—"Autumn Wedding Bells"—A voice sings a bridal song, and six bridesmaids enter from either side and pass down the runway toward the stage, where they are met by the masculine group of the wedding scene. A little flower girl and ring bearer follows the bridesmaids, then the bride followed by guests—models in afternoon, evening, dinner and dance frocks and evening wraps. The scene closes with a spectacular climax.

MANY ATTEND COMMUNITY MEETING AT ROCKFORD

The Rockford Church was filled to capacity last night with the crowd that assembled for the community meeting, at which the films of the farm bureau and the Chamber of Commerce were shown and at which a community sing was held and several talks made.

The meeting opened with singing, led by Alfred Jones. Then came a talk by the Rev. Joseph A. Cooper, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Maryville, on community work; a talk by Miss Grace M. Shepherd of the State Teachers College on demonstration schools; a talk by Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, on the Nodaway County School Day that is to be held October 11. President Uel W. Lamkin of the College was unable to be present.

It is said that the meeting was one of the largest of its kind ever held at the church.

APPOINTS BATTERY NON-COM. OFFICERS

SOME OF THE MEN GET THEIR FIRST INSTRUCTION.

TO MEET ON MONDAYS

Lieutenant Kyle Phares Taught a Group How to Do Some of the Facings.

Battery C Missouri National Guard held its second meeting last night and the men were given some instruction pertaining to their training. About half of the men have had little or no military training. This group was taken charge of by Kyle Phares, senior first lieutenant, and shown the position of a soldier, how to do right face, left face, about face, right dress, stand at ease and rest.

Captain Eugene A. Maynor had the following list of non-cimmissioned officers, which he had chosen, read: First sergeant, Thomas R. O'Grady; supply sergeant, Jack Pennington; mess sergeant, Ralph E. Palmer; stable sergeant, Everett A. Kendall; instrument sergeant, Frank E. McDougal; signal sergeant, John P. Renfrow; chief mechanic (sergeant rating), Jefferson E. Dalrymple; section chief sergeants, Robert G. Garten, Roy J. Mayes, Charles M. Wiles, William L. Mapel; scout sergeant, Stephen J. Donahue; cook (sergeant rating), Jack L. Jones; horseshoer (sergeant rating), Edgar E. Copeland; company clerk (corporal rating), Harold R. O'Banion; gun corporals, Edgar L. Messmer, Charley I. Still, Ray V. Bloomfield, Hugh K. Graham, William H. Burr, Samuel P. Allison; mechanist corporals, Wesley W. Hagins and Clyde D. Sawyers; saddler (corporal rating), Martin C. Penisten; farrier (corporal rating), Brantell R. Embree; horseshoer helper (corporal rating), William A. Dalrymple.

These appointments complete the list with the exception of the second cook and the privates first class.

It was decided that from now on the battery will meet on Monday night in place of on Tuesday night. The change was made because most of the men said that they would rather meet on Monday evenings than on Tuesday evenings.

The debating club of the Maryville High School was reorganized this morning with fourteen members. The following students enrolled: John Givens, Joseph Graves, Margaret Louise Hosmer, Louise Peery, Townsend Godsey, Floyd Cook, Maurice Chick, Jarvus Bush, Roland Holloway, Berdett Yeo, Milo Vickory, Richard Baker and Catherine Remus.

The question for debate this year is, "Resolved, that the Government Should Own and Operate All Coal Mines."

WHAT DOES JACKIE COOGAN EARN? READ ON

A newspaper writer recently published a story declaring that Jackie Coogan, who is now appearing at the Empire Theater in "Trouble," would be "a millionaire at the age of eight."

This, according to information from New York, is only figuratively correct. Jackie, who will not be eight years old until next October, is guarded over by his father, John Coogan, Sr., who makes all contracts for the child star and acts as his manager and mentor. By the terms of the contract under which Jackie is now working, he is to appear in six feature pictures and is to receive a percentage of the profits of those pictures, in addition to certain cash considerations each week.

In time, the returns from these pictures will make Jackie a fabulously wealthy child, with an earned fortune greater than ever was accrued by any child in history and larger than most of the rest of us ever will possess.

In "Trouble," which has only 2 days to run, Jackie, by a strange freak of fate, plays a penniless waif. But that's only on the screen.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT TO REQUIRE MAIL RECEPTACLES

The post office department plans to discontinue delivering mail to houses and places of business after December 31 of this year where slots or mail receptacles are not provided. As it is the mailman frequently knocks on the door, and waits and may in the end have to leave the mail lying on the porch where a wind may blow it away. Again, he may walk to the back of the house or the office of a business firm far back in the building. These delays are not pleasant and are not calculated in the pay given the mail carrier.

The department has issued orders that the local postoffice department make efforts to acquaint residents of this ruling and slots be sawed in the door or a suitable receptacle nailed up at the front.

WEARS CONVICT'S PANTS, LANDS SELF IN JAIL

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 27.—Walter Ott, arrayed in a pair of prison trousers, was placed under arrest by local police, when discovered loitering near the overhead structure at the Boston & Maine Railroad station here.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Holliday and children, Robert and Mary Louise of Fulton, Mo., will arrive in Maryville tonight for a visit at the home of Mr. Holliday's mother, Mrs. O. B. Holliday, 309 West First Street. The Rev. Mr. Holliday was a former pastor of the Buchanan Street Methodist Church in Maryville and is now pastor of the M. E. Church, South, in Fulton

KESSLER HAS A REMARKABLE RADIO RECEIVING SET

Is Able to Pick up Messages from All Parts of the U. S. with Elimination of Static

Ernest Kessler has at his home on West Third street one of the most remarkable radio sets to be found in all the Middle West. With aerial or ground wire he is able to pick up messages and concerts from all parts of the United States and get them with a large percentage of the static eliminated that occurs in the sets with the grounds and the Aerial. The instrument is arranged so that the aerial and the ground wire may be attacked and one at once gets the interference of the static although the sound is made louder.

Mr. Kessler says that the reason he is able to receive with the instrument without the aerial and the ground is that the sound is stepped up to such a great extent.

Mr. Kessler assembled his set. He says that there are but few like it in the United States and that they are not on the market.

SCHOLARSHIPS GO BEGGING

No Applicants for 45 Offered to Missouri Farm Boys

Columbia, Mo., Sept. 27—Farm boys are slow in availing themselves of the numerous scholarships which are offered to them for entrance in the agricultural college at the University of Missouri. Offers of forty-five scholarships for the sixteen-week short course at the college are without claimants. They would provide practically half the expense of this intensive course, and are not difficult to obtain. In addition to these are forty scholarships offered by the Missouri Pacific railroad to boys living in counties through which it runs. Few applicants have appeared. Decisions on the awarding of the scholarships will be made Oct. 2, though the brief course will not begin till Oct. 30.

The indifference of the farm boys this year is said by members of the faculty to be in marked contrast to the eagerness with which they formerly sought admittance to the agricultural department of the university. In bygone years boys have sold the family horse to which they had become attached, a litter of pigs, raised with much patience and corn to adult hoghood, a milk cow, anything, to gain the opportunities which the course offered.

A decided increase in the number of farm boys enrolled in the school of engineering is evident this year.
